MEMORANDA

MEMORANDA

The true education, however, is not yet conceived of amongst us ... I never define anything ... Still, it may be described as a development of faculty, not an accumulation of words, or as a training of individuals to will rightly and efficiently.

— Swami Vivekananda

The highest education is that which does not merely give us information but makes our life in harmony with all existence ... Thus the greatest of educations for which we come find a bagful of information instead ... his hunger is for the Epic, but he is supplied with chronicles of facts and dates.

— Rabindranath Tagore

It is, infact, nothing short of a miracle that the modern methods of instruction have not entirely as a student of his students.

— Albert Einstein

The illiterate of the 21st century will not those who can not read and write, but those who can not learn, unlearn and relearn.

— Alvin Toffler

Children have never been very good at listening to their elders, but they have never failed to imitate them.

— James Baldwin

It is a thousand times to have common sense without education than to have education without common sense.

— R. G. Ingersoll

Give the pupils something to do, not something to learn, and the doing of such a nature as to demand thinking, learning naturally results.

— John Dewey
